PRAISE FOR OUR PARTIES

I have always enjoyed planning my children's birthday parties. My challenge was never having the bandwidth to take a breath and focus on the happiness of my child on THEIR special day while I was playing hostess. This year was different.

Andie hosted a cooking party at our house for my daughter Katelyn and 15 of her 3 year-old friends. It was priceless. Each one of them excitedly stood post at their special cooking station wearing personalized aprons that Andie had made. During the course of the party it was so nice to have order to what would have otherwise been chaos with that many children in attendance.

As they each prepared their own pizza, as well as mixed and frosted their cupcakes, my husband and I had the luxury of standing back and truly taking it all in. The smiles, the giggles, and the pride they each felt was so precious...and for once...we SAW IT!

The party was amazing start to finish and months later is still paying for itself -- Katelyn (3) and Michael (15 months) put on their aprons daily to help me prepare lunch and dinner. Who knew a birthday party could open the door to a new family hobby!

“One of the moms emailed me today saying their daughter won't stop talking about how much fun she had at the birthday party.

The birthday girl had a blast too, so I think it was a hit!”

-Mom of a 4-year old
